VARYING STYLES.

Everybody Can Be Satisfied and Still Be In Style.

Any one particular style that happens to be in fashion is sure not to be universally becoming, but by the exercise of a little thought and judgment every woman can select from the prevailing mode such particular characteristics as suit her individuality, thus keeping up to date without sacrificing the attractiveness of her personal appearance. Certain things are becoming only to slender women, certain others only to robust ones. Slender women have it all their own way when ruffings, ruffles and full blouses and basques are in question, but with plain and tailor made gowns and flat trimmings the advantage is on the other side.

This is an epoch when it is possible for everybody to be suited without departing from the mode. The fancy for fluff trimmings, platings, ruffles and gathered skirts goes hand in hand with an equally strong appreciation of elegant simplicity, in which the general lines of the figure are unbroken by obtrusive decorations.

A very pretty and youthful gown for a young woman is illustrated. It is of old rose etamine, the skirt being laid in small plaits at the top, simulating a pointed yoke. The bodice is plaited from the waist upward in a similar way, with a corsage effect. The close sleeves have a slight bouffancy at the top and are finished at the wrist with a frill of guipure. A short bolero and epaulet of guipure and a neck frill of the same lace complete the corsage. The soft belt is of old rose surah.

JUDIC CHOLET.

WINTER FASHIONS.

Popular Colors—Rich and Elaborate Gowns and Splendid Trimmings.

The fondness for mauve, purple and violet tones by no means abates, and these shades are to be expected as a noticeable feature in fall and winter costumes. Blue also will come in for a large share of popularity.

A great deal of elaboration will be expended on gowns for the coming winter. Indeed elaboration is to form their characteristic. Even cloth gowns are to be trimmed and decorated with the most minute care, and silk and velvet ones will be of unparalleled richness in fabric and trimmings.

TRAVELING COSTUME.

ming. Simplicity has been in vogue for several years past, and the reaction to simpler styles might fairly be expected to set in now, but it shows no symptoms of doing so. It is sure to come sooner or later, but in this case it will certainly be much later. It does not seem possible that lace, passementerie and embroidery could be made much richer than they were last winter, but a greater degree of splendor is promised, and really there seems to be no end to possibilities of luxury. There is a limit to poverty, because when a man arrives at a certain degree of it he dies of starvation and cannot become any poorer, but a man may grow richer and richer and remain alive to grow richer yet.

The manufacture of these costly and intricate adornments gives occupation to an immense number of persons, and the fact that such things are fashionable is therefore one at which to rejoice. When wealthy people take to saving their money instead of spending it, it means hard times for poor people.

The picture shows a traveling costume of brown and white shepherd's check woolen goods. The skirt is trimmed at the side with a band of white cloth which is fastened down by pearl buttons and brown cord. The close bodice of checked goods is bordered with white cloth trimmed with buttons and cord and opens over a full chemise of white surah. The epaulet and the sleeves at the wrist are trimmed with white cloth, buttons and cord. The belt is of brown kid.

JUDIC CHOLET.

Strawberry Ice Cream made of fresh strawberries at J. J. Catogni's.

The jungles of Africa are not the only places in the world where a man courts death from an unseen foe. All the savages of all the barbarous nations of the world have not slain one tithe of the men that have been killed by that dread assassin—consumption. One-sixth of all the deaths in the world are due to it.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures by going to the very root of the evil—imperfect and improper nutrition. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the appetite keen and assimilation perfect. It drives out the impurities from the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements that build up the body. It is the greatest blood-maker and purifier. When you pump rich, red, healthy blood into an organ it cannot long remain diseased. This is true of the lungs. New healthy tissue is built up in them and the germs of consumption are driven out. Thousands have testified to their cure by this great remedy. Druggists sell it.

Ralph Green, Esq., of Williamsburg, Callaway Co., Mo., writes: "Before I commenced your treatment I could not take a drink of water without great suffering in my stomach. I could not eat. I was fast sinking and did not weigh more than 115 pounds. To-day I weigh 157. I had five different doctors examine me, and each one treated me without doing me any good. At last I took four or five bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and to-day am in better health than I have been for five years. Whenever I see any of my friends suffering I tell them of your medicine and advise them to write to you."

It is better to do mending while the damage is slight. Constipation is the one, all-embracing disorder that is responsible for many other diseases. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. Druggists sell them. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Nothing else is "just as good." A permanent cure.

The Thyroid Gland in Medicine.

In the past few years a remedy has been discovered for certain conditions hitherto regarded as incurable, which is certain in its action, and which for the beneficence of its results stands unrivaled in therapeutics. The use in medicine of the thyroid gland of animals is a logical conclusion from adequate premises, and the thyroid forms one of the few medicinal agents in our possession which are not given on purely empirical grounds.

It is a generally familiar fact that the majority of drugs are prescribed because medical history records that, for some unknown reason, they have proved effectual in the diseases in which they are administered, though why they should do so remains unexplained. In certain conditions mercury has a specific action, the nature of which is absolutely unknown. Quinine had cured the Countess Chinchon—and hence the name cinchona—of herague centuries before a clever Frenchman discovered that malaria resulted from the activity in the blood of a vegetable parasite on which Peruvian bark exerts a restraining influence.

So it is with most of the remedies which the physician employs. He uses them because experience has shown that they will do good in the conditions in which he prescribes them, although he has not learned why, but in the use of animal thyroid the physician knows that he has a sovereign remedy, and he also knows the reasons for the brilliant results of its proper application.—Dr. Pearce Bailey in Popular Science Monthly.

A Wife's Awful Dread.

Once Professor Sylvester purchased a new pair of trousers and wore them to the university. His wife, who was well aware of his absentminded habits, knew nothing of the purchase. An hour or so after Professor Sylvester's arrival at the university his wife was seen rushing breathlessly down the street with a package under her arm.

Meeting one of the professors, she inquired hastily and anxiously, "Have you seen Professor Sylvester?"

"Yes," answered the astonished professor.

"Well, is he all right—is everything all right?" asked his anxious spouse.

"My dear madam," said the professor, "calm yourself. Your husband is perfectly well. I saw him but a moment ago."

"But I mean," said the almost frenzied woman, "did you notice anything peculiar about him? Did he look as he ought to look? Oh, did he—did he?"

Just then Professor Sylvester strolled around the corner with the new trousers on, to the intense relief of both his wife and the other professor.—Baltimore Sun.

Chinese Similes.

Some of the ordinary expressions of the Chinese are pointedly sarcastic enough. A blustering, harmless fellow they call "a paper tiger." When a man values himself overmuch, they compare him to "a rat falling into a scale and weighing itself." Overdoing a thing they call "a hunchback making a bow." A spendthrift they compare to "a rocket" which goes off at once. Those who expend their charity on remote objects, but neglect their family, are said to "hang a lantern on a pole, which is seen afar, but gives no light below."
